From day one of our lives, most of us have been destined to attend college. We went through twelve years of schooling only to be prompted by our families and peers to attend at least four more years of "higher education." And so we landed here. Why? Why would a prospective college student choose James Madison University over another institution of learning? The students themselves are one reason.

The students at JMU are very diverse. Our homes range from Alaska to Massachusetts, our economic backgrounds are very different, our tastes in clothing, music, recreational activities and educational interests all vary greatly. But there is a common bond among all who attend James Madison University, even if it is just the university itself.

The students are loyal, too; to each other and to the university. There isn't anyone here who wouldn't stand defiantly against a harmful word said about JMU, whether it be about the campus itself, the students or the administration.

McKiernan

Davis

Leong

Helms

The administration recognizes this, and realizes the importance of catering to the students' growing needs. To keep up with the increase in students, another dorm opened this year. McGraw-Long is the newest dormitory to adorn the JMU campus. Located next to Bell Hall, it provided additional housing for students and eliminated the use of Howard Johnson's as campus housing.

The administration also knows that with so many students it's important that facilities be upgraded for recreational purposes, too. For this reason construction began early last year on a new student union, the Phillips Center, which will open in the Spring of 1985.

In addition to the physical campus changes, Dr. Carrier and his staff noticed a need for the modernization of the university's public image. A new, up-to-date logo was designed for both JMU and the Warren Campus Center, and the implementation of the JMU- (568-) prefix in campus phone numbers was a positive measure to provide additional identity for JMU.

The SGA did its part to attend to the students' needs this year. Additions to the campus such as the new jogging trail and the university pavilion were SGA responses to students' growing needs. The Student Government Association also created a Council of Campus Leaders this year to address student problems and concerns about JMU, and to better unify the students as a whole.

Helms

Unifying the student body has never been a real concern here, though. Go to any sporting event, attend any graduation ceremony or eat in D-Hall every once in awhile. The students here have no airs, no reservations when it comes to acquainting themselves with each other.

When the ECAC banned the traditional throwing of streamers after the first two JMU points were scored in a basketball game, the students found other ways to show their unified support. Signs were made, t-shirts were worn and scarves were waved. Toilet paper was thrown after the games as a substitute for the streamers which were formerly supplied by JMU.

And so what if our basketball team didn't win the NCAA. Our games were just as intense and exciting. Besides, we excel in other sports. Our Archery team is 1st in the nation, and our women's Volleyball team made JMU history this year by qualifying for the NCAA Tournament. Sports have always been activities which show the true unity of the student body. Everyone here contributes to JMU sports whether it be as spectator or player.

Helms

Staff

The students at JMU are always involved in activities of one kind or another. One reason could be the terrific academic opportunities available here. Such opportunities include classes instructed by some of the most outstanding teachers available, on-the-job experience such as internships and student-teaching, practicum opportunities like the video co-op or WMRA radio, and extra-curricular activities which include clubs and organizations. It is through the extra-curricular activities JMU offers that our students gain the knowledge and first-hand experience they'll need to have that extra edge in the "real world." It is also through these activities that we gain our acquaintances and friendships.

Through the extra opportunities available to the students JMU obtains recognition also. When the Summer Olympics were held in Los Angeles last year, JMU was there. While Carl Lewis, Mary Lou Retton and others were winning an unprecedented number of medals for the United States (83 Gold, 61 Silver and 30 Bronze), JMU was represented by five students who had been selected to participate in the Olympic Band.

The Presidential Inauguration worked the same way. Close to 50 JMU students were selected to play in the All-American College Marching Band in January for the 50th Presidential Inaugural Festivities. Due to extremely cold weather, President Reagan cancelled the traditional parade and held events indoors.

President Reagan was re-elected with the biggest electoral vote in the nation's history. He beat Walter Mondale by winning 49 states and capturing 49 percent of the total vote. Mondale himself made history by appointing a woman, Geraldine Ferraro, as his vice presidential running mate.

The U.S. wasn't the only nation to elect a new president, though. After years of civil war, elections were held in El Salvadore in 1984. Jose Napoleon Duarte was elected president in what international observers called the most free and open election in that country in 50 years.

Another international event of interest was the return of the United States Marines from Beirut after two years. When they left Lebanon in 1984, more than 260 Marines had died, Lebanon was still at war with most of its territory occupied by foreign troops and its government was tottering.

On a positive note, Pope John Paul II traveled extensively in 1984. The pope visited South Korea, Thailand, the Solomon Islands, Switzerland, Spain, Canada, Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico and Papua New Guinea where 200,000 natives turned out to welcome him in the highland jungle country.

The Statue of Liberty celebrated her 98th birthday in 1984 and she began to show her age. The statue was worn from constant pummeling by wind, salt air and acid rain, and the iron ribbing supporting her copper covering was badly corroded. A restoration effort expected to take two years began last July.

We JMU students are kept well aware of occurrences outside of our realm through our student-produced newspaper, The Breeze, which increased the amount of state, national and world news published in each issue this year. The Breeze primarily informs us of local events and incidents, meeting schedules and various entertainment events.

The University Program Board did a terrific job keeping us entertained this year. Appearances by the Go-Gos, George Carlin and James Taylor, first-run movies like "The Killing Fields", and special events like the "JMU Revue" and Winterfest offered entertainment and fun for everyone.

It is through the administration and university organizations like UPB, The Breeze, SGA, and various sports that all who attend here participate in different aspects of the university and develop the loyalty that is so obviously present in each and every student here. Exactly where it comes from is not really important; but it is the kind of loyalty that remains within a student long after the graduation ceremony is over. Ask any alumnus of JMU; take a poll at any home football game of who "used to" attend the university.

Why would any prospective college student choose James Madison University over another institution of learning? There are a number of reasons: because of the unique people here, because of the excellent academic opportunities, because of the administration that caters to the student-body, because of the beautiful campus and surroundings, the list goes on and on.

Ask any student what he or she would most like to contribute to James Madison University and you will get the same varied answers. Despite the different goals of each individual though, there's no doubt but what a student would most like to leave here is a distinctive mark to ensure the perpetuation of the fine institution that is James Madison University for future generations to benefit from.

1985 Bluestone volume was published by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. Sixty-three hundred copies were printed, nine by twelve inches. Westvaco sterling litho paper and a century blue-black ink were used throughout the book. The cover is an original staff design embossed on oyster lexotone material with mission grain, top stamped with gold 919 applied. Process color is used on all spot color and 4-color pages. All headlines were set by Taylor Publishing using various typesyles. All text entry was computerized-submitted on software from an IBM personal computer.

February 25, 1985

Dear Staff,

When we first started out this year we had every possible disadvantage against our putting out a decent yearbook. We're young; with the exception of three or four, every member of the Bluestone staff is a sophomore or younger. None of us had ever worked on the JMU yearbook before. We were virtually a prototype staff.

To top off our inexperience, we were faced with leftover business problems: bills two years past due to pay and 6,000 yearbooks from last year to distribute due to the fact that the books never arrived in time last year.

We've done it. We handled all the problems with ease (well. . .) and we've put out a quality yearbook which exemplifies our hard work and headaches. In my opinion, no one would know that we hadn't ever had Bluestone experience if we hadn't admitted it.

The purpose of our yearbook was to show the class and uniqueness present here at JMU. We've done that in so many ways and I'm so proud of the whole staff! My personal expectations in you all and in the book itself have far been exceeded. Our efforts have already been noticed and rewarded by Taylor Publishing. They are printing a hundred additional copies of the 1985 Bluestone to distribute throughout the U.S. to use as their sample yearbook this year. We must be doing something right.

The best thing about us as a staff though, was that we had fun. . . we created memories for ourselves while preserving memories for others. And we have more to look forward to. If there's one advantage to being young, it's that we can all return next year. I'm looking forward to that.

Thank you all for your hard work and friendship. You've made my job a lot easier, and a lot of fun! We've done a super job and produced a yearbook that James Madison University will be proud to call its own.

Much love and Thanks,

Chrissy

*So many men seem destined to settle for something small
But I won't rest until I know I'll have it all
So don't ask me where I'm going just listen when I've gone
And far away you'll hear me singing softly to the dawn.*
